The want of capital has long been felt in working the gold-fields of this district, and though many of the claims have proved very profitable, they would have realised larger dividends had capital, combined with a larger scope of ground, been at their command. There is still in the Valley of Araluen large portions of available ground, which could be worked to advantage by a company, but which could here to made to pay by private enterprise. The object, therefore, of this campany is to open an extended area of ground, worked by a powerful engine and good plant, by which means the company will be able to accomplish a far greater amount of work at a much less expense than can possibly be done by the present system of cramped up claims and hired machinery. Consequently the company could make even a much smaller yield of gold than the present average productive of a handsome return.

It is proposed to establish the company with a capital of two thousand pounds, that amount being deemed sufficient for present purposes; the company reserving to itself the power of hereafter increasing its capital. The two thousand pounds to be raised by an issue of two thousand shares of one pound such. A call of ten shillings per share to be made at the substance of each. A farrher call of five shillings to be nade at the expiration of one month, and the balance to be paid at two months from the date of autorment.

South Wales, Pitt-street North, Sydney.

JAMES HENNESSY AND CO.—COGNAC BRANDY.—Numerous complaints having reached us, directly through our agents, Mesera. TWISS and BROWNINGS, of Lendon, of the imitation and piracy of our labels on Bettled Brandy. We beg to inform the Australian public that the copyright of our label with the Battlease Crest is registered at Stationers' Hall, London, and that any piracy of it subjects the party to heavy penalties, either in England or the colonies. We have, therefore, given orders that all persons imitating or fraudulently using our labels will be prosecuted as the law directs. JAS. HENNESSY and CO., Cognac.

JAMES HENNESSY and CO.'S COGNAC.

—BATLLEAXE BRAND.—Whereas information has been given to us that labels, or trade marks, of Mewrs. James Hennessy and Co., which come within the meaning of "The Trade Marks Act 1805," have been, and are now being, applied and used in Sydney and elsewhere within this colony, contrary to the said statute, whereby any person so applying or using the same is guilty of a misdemeanor, and is finale to line and to imprisonment with or without hard labour; and all articles to which such labels shall be applied, the instruments for applying the same, do., are to be forfeited to the Crown; Now we do hereby give NOTICE that all persons applying or using any labels purporting to be genuine labels or trade marks of Messrs. James Honnesey and Co., contrary to the provisions of the said statute, will be prosecuted as thereby directed.

Messrs. Hennessy and Co. do not bottle their Cognac in the colonies. For the information of all parties concerned, a copy of section 11 of the said statute is set out below.

Dated the 22nd day of May, 1866.

NO MORE BALDNESS!—BLACK OXIDE OF COPPER POMADE.—The wonderful property of this preparation for strengthening and restoring the hair, seven in cases of total baldness, is now fully established, and the adjacent colonies has been such as to earn for it the name of "the most twonderful discovery of the day." Considerable doubt having been expressed as to the efficacy of the above, the proprietor would beg to direct attention to the following certificates, the first of which was sent to the following certificates, the first of which was sent to his agents in Michourse; the latter is from Orange:

Oxide for mite Carange Mine for the space of seven weeks, my lair has grown to a good thickness, and will stand axamizing at any time.

"John A. Clark, Miner, Lucknow."

Apart from these, one of the best proofs of its efficacy is, that since the 28th October, 1865, a period of only nine menths, the demand has been so great that THIRTYSEVEN THOUSAND pots have been sold. Evidently this would not have been the case did it not produce the desired effect.

Caution!—In consequence of the enormous demand for this preparation, certain unprincipied persons are making a spurious article, and eding it as the gounder Porade; the public are therefore cautioned against buying any without

The Endney Morning Merald.

SATURDAY, JULY 21, 1866

In encounters between the police and the highwaymen, experience has proved that there is so much uncertainty as to the result, and so much risk that the servant of the law may be shot instead of the enemy of society, that it was a satisfaction to hear that in the late affray with the Southern bushrangers the right bullet did the execution. The death of Connell reduces the number of outlaws to one, and, what is more important, it weakens the gang of which he was a ringleader, by depriving it of the services of one who was not only an expert horse-man and exceedingly difficult to catch, bat who was intimately acquainted with all the nooks and corners of a difficult country. It is too much to hope that his death will absolutely break up the gang and terminate bushranging in that district, for as long as one outlaw remains there is the nucleus of further mischief, as there is no possibility of his peaceful return to an honest career. Crimes against society knowing that he is under the ban of the law has nothing before him but a continued criminal career unless, which is not easy, he can assume an impenetrable disguise, or escape altogether from the country which has so heavy an account against him. Even, however, if there were an opening for repentance and reformation without punishment, there is unfortunately but too little ground for expecting it. Connell and Clark) have for years been systematic cattle-stealers. They have been ingrained with predatory habits; plunder has been their livelihood, and they have been a torment to the district in which they have practised their notorious skill. With them bushranging has not been a sudden impulse, but the natural development of a previous career.

At the present time bushranging is not rife if any other district of the colony. The police, against whom so much has been freely charged. and principally by those who have rendered them no assistance, have succeeded in killing, capturing, or quieting nearly all who have hitherto distinguished themselves with an evil celebrity. CLARKE, and the man who delights in the sobriquet of "Thunderbolt," are the two principal scoundrels still at large.

principal scoundrels still at large.

It will be satisfactory if we could feel that not only was bushranging itself nearly extirpated, but that the cause that generated it was also waning in its power. But this flattering unction we are scarcely in a position to apply. It has been shewn with only too much clearness that cattlestealing is the crime out of which bushranging must readily takes its rise, and while the gener. rise, and v ating cause is still in vigorous life it is hoping against hope to expect that the regular effect will not follow. It is impossible for us to shut our eyes to the fact that cattle-stealing is not on the decrease. A paragraph quoted in our issue of Friday from the Western Post informs us that the crime of cattle-stealing in the district in which that journal is published is really becoming ing, and at the last Quarter something alarm Sessions there Mr. Judge CARY drew attention to the fact that there were no less than seven teen cases of horse and cattle stealing on the calendar. The Assembly annually complains of the number of constables supported at the public expense, and of the magnitude of the police estimate; but how is the force to be shed while this amount of crime manifests itself? Seventeen cases of cattle-stealing in one week. In each case the police are expected to werify the fact of the crime, to hunt up and capture the criminal, to collect the condemnatory evidence, and to follow the case through the court to conviction. Nor do the cases that come into Court represent the whole of their labours, or the whole claim on their time. Often their services are called in o re-quisition when from want of a clue they fail to quisition when from want or a case succeedidentify the stolen property, or to get evidence that would justify them in laying hands upon

It has been intimated that some modification of the existing Felons' Apprehonsion Bill forms a part of the programme of the business to be laid before Parliament. It is right that a measure which has proved itself practically useful should be continued in force, subject to any alterations that experience may have shown to be desirable. While the evil lasts, every available remedy must be kept in efficacious order. But while dealing with effects, it would be proper for Parliament to give even more study prevention than to cure. Legislation that will tend to check the increase of cattle-stealing will be more valuable than legislation that will secure the capture of the cattle-stealers. The unprotected nature of cattle property, toving as it does over unfenced country, the case with the orders imported in these different Churches. Which theft can be effected on moonlight nights. Nothing but the civil authority could preserve when no one is on the watch, and the great I in one organisation those diversities of opinion liff cuity in the way of legally identifying the stolen property, are stimulants to crime. The temptation is strong, the act is easy, detection is difficult. Anything that would interpose a difficulty in the way of the crime—anything that would increase the chances of detection and punishment-would be a gain to the community. The latter is the more important consideration of the two. It is essential to consideration of the two. It is essential to society that the idea of punishment should be associated inseparably with the idea of crime. The possibility of escape weakens the sanction of the law in the popular estimation, and when the possibility amounts to probability, and conspicuously illustrated by the frequent failure of justice, the effect is very fail.

Last session, Mr. Wilson introduced a bill for the registration of brands, the object of which, and presumably the effect of which would be to facilitate the identification of stoler cattle. The birl was withdrawn in deference to admittedly not free from difficulty. But the importance of making it generally felt that the crime of cattle-stealing could be brought home premptly to the guilty parties is so great, that any measure which would secure that result would be a social gain, even if it were accom have to deal with a strong tendency to crime amongst a portion of the rural population. It is a great and growing evil, and one which, if not checked, will nvolve us hereafter in even greater difficulties han we have had yet to contend with. It will cost us money, it will cost us lives, it will cost us national reputation. We must not quarrel with remedies—if they really are remedies—simply because there is something disagreeable m adopting them.

Another great point would be gained if the Assembly would really tackle the subject of lencing runs. It is a difficult matter undoubtedly under the present law to adjust the claims of squatters and selectors. Yet it ought to be done if it is at all practicable, for as it is, an indisputable improvement is kept at bay, and facilities are offered for cattle stealing which might be removed. It is unfortunate that question which really affects the morality and commercial prosperity of the country should be so associated with the passions that have raged on the land question, as to make it difficult for the Legislature to approach it with the requisite courage enough to propound the proper policy.

A TARGE section of the colonists is deeply encerned in the discussion now taking place in England in reference to the status of colonia. the appeal against the Bishop of Care Town subsequent decision having reference the Hishop of NATAL, have entirely changed the apparent position of these ecclesiastical func-tionaries. It was supposed by them, and proersons who thought upon the bably by all persons by patent to constitute a diocese and to onfer all the powers which were alleged to be conveyed by that instrument. The decision of the Courts does not a all enter into the question of pure spiritual oblieation. It has been decided that no colonial Bishop has any power or authority whatever in a colony having a Legislature, except such power as is established by law. The effect of this decision is to make all the relations of the Bishop and clergy and the people connected with them purely voluntary and discretional.

A purpose was declared by the Bishop of CAPE Town not only to excommunicate the Bishop of NATAL, but to proceed to the election of his successor. Not merely was his office to be declared vacant, but another was to office to be declared vacant, but another was to be placed in his stead. This proposition was received by the English prelates with much alarm. Not that they had any doubt of the unitiness of Dr. Colesso or of the impropriety of the course which he has pursued; but they perceived that this new election would entirely set aside the Royal authority, and that it would not only assume that the patent was inoperative under colonial law, but that it was of no value whatever. In that was of no value whatever. In that the case there would be a Bishop exercising his functions under the patent of the Queen, and a Bishop exercising his functions under the appointment QUEEN. M ent of another in opposition to the Miss BURDETT COUTTS, who has given so many munificent examples of her attachment to the Anglican form of Christianity has interposed a petition to the QUEEN against all these measures. She asserts that her money was given with a view to found bishoprics which should be subordinate to the Royal control, and which should belong to the Church of England as established by law. To sever this connection would be to remove all the guarantees for the orthodoxy of remove all the guarantees for the orangozy of the colonial Churches, and to throw them entirely upon local opinion, such as has shown itself with so much vehe-mence in behalf of the Bishop of NATAL, mence in behalf of the Bishop of NATAL, and in opposition to him. The Bishop of London seems to strongly sympathise with Miss Courts, and is the medium of conveying her remonstrance or petition. He accuses the Bishop of CAPE Town of rashness, and foresees in the course which has been pursued the greatest danger to the Church in the colonies. greatest danger to the Church in the colonies.

The discussion which took place in Con-vocation on the same subject shows that the bishops of the Church of England entertain strong opinions adverse to this method of superseding and appointing Bishops. There are, however, others who evidently incline to the idea of a free Church, and who regard all the loca of a tree Church, and who regard all civil restraints upon episcopal authority as so many invasions on their original prerogatives. Among the leaders of this view we should be disposed to class the Bishop of Oxronp. In this state of affairs the Government has come forward with a bill, introduced by Mr.

GLADSTONE, who states that the ground of legislation is the decisions of the Courts of law, which have declared the patents invalid. The object of this bill is to bring all collateral laws into harmony with this fundamental idea, and seems really to be an adoption of the scheme propounded by the Bishop of NEW ZEALAND and his brethren, who have asked to be allowed to surrender their patents and thus assume the rights, functions, and privileges of an indepen dent Church. Of course there are many diffident Church. Of course there are many diffi-culties connected with the adoption of this scheme which must be felt by clergymen of the Church of England, since its tendency is to dissever them from the body to which they originally belonged, and ultimately to place in jeopardy their status in the mother Church. It is perfectly clear that, if all action between the Church of England and the Churches established under colonial enisconacy be broken, and there be no colonial episcopacy be broken, and there be no English Court which can take cognisance of their doctrine or discipline, in the long run on objection will be made to recognise the orders in parted in these different Churches.

and practice which have recently agitated the Church of England.

We presume that until legislation is com we presume that until legislation is com-plete on this subject at home, no action can well be taken by the colonial Legislatures that will satisfy the aspirations of these parties who are so deeply interested in this momentous revolution. We cannot doubt that, so far as it depends upon the colonists, every facility will be granted which, under all the circumstances, may be deemed to be useful and just.

A PETITION in another part of this day's paper calls our notice to new and valuable products which, with comparatively little trouble and ex-pense, may be obtained from different parts of the orange and lemon tree, now discarded and looked upon as worthless. At the present time erange growers only look to the sale of their fruit, and from the remunerative prices to the producer at which oranges and lemons have ruled, and the contented state in which prictors have remained satisfied with the sale of their fruit alone, no attention has been paid of their fruit alone, no attention has been paid to the leaves, the petals, and the rind, which, when properly treated, afford oils, ottoes, and essences of great value and of very extensive consumption both here and in the European markets; and if the potiand in the European marans, it the tion meets with a favourable reception at the hands of the Government, we have thrown open hands of the disposal of to us a new and large field for the disposal of the refuse of the orangery. It is a singular fact that though Grasse, Cannes, and Nice, in the south of France, have been a gigantic the south of France, nave occur a symmetry garden for the production of ottoes used in perfumery, soaps, and confectionery for many years and though the commercial value of these past, and though the commercial value of these products in France has attained the annual value of £3,000,000, no published accounts or statistics by a French author has issued from the French Press on the subject of Flower Farming, but to this important branch of enterprise science is indebted principally to "The Art of Perfumery," by Dr. Septimus Plesse, which has recently been translated into French by Dr. Baviel, of Paris; and still further is it to be noticed tha " no cyclopædia which is more than ten years old makes any mention of the enflowering process as a source of entrapping the exquisite odeur of flowers; nor do any of the multitude of books relating to economic gardening notice it is, however, with the petition of Mr.

Holnord with which we have to deal, and we are ready to admit that, if his figures are correct, and we do not question them, he has made out a very strong case for legislative interference. Would our readers have supposed, that when an erangery has been pruned, and the leaves collected by the cart-load and taken to the still, and placed in water, that an otto will pass over and will float on the water (from which it can easily be separated), and collected and readily sold at three shillings an ounce? Yet, with this small amount of trouble and the expense of fuel only, a valuable product is thus easily obtained. But the distillation of orange flower water is, if any thing, more easily managed. The blossoms, which in this country drop from the tree whole, and the petals, if distilled with water, afford a product in great demand in France, and which in this country drop from the tree whole, and the petals, if distilled with water, afford a product in great demand in France, and the consumption of which, as, Mr. Holkov has shewn, is largely in excess of the supply. The collection of the blossoms may be effected by placing sheets of called the consumption of which, as, Mr. Holkov has shewn, is largely in excess of the supply. The collection of the blossoms may be effected by placing sheets of called the still, and then, by the addition of water, the orange flower water is procured. Nothing can be more casy, nothing more simple, and a remunerative product obtained. The proposal of Mr. Holkov Donly goes to the distillation of the product of congress and flower farms, and he bases his application on the right which has been extended to the owners of vineyards. The concession which was made many years ago to wine producers in permitting them to keep and use stills of a certain size to obtain spirit with which to fortify their wines has not resulted in illicit distillation for other purposes. No conviction of a wine-grower for selling his brandy has, so far as our recollection goes, ever taken place, and, if wine producers and be trusted with stills for distillations and the still still sign spirit, surely the privalege may fairly be extended to those who purpose to distillations and waters. It may, however, be necessary to use spirit in the production of some essences. Let it be used—but make it incumbent on the cover of the orange still to shew to the Excise from whence he obtained the spirit for that dury upon such spirit has been paid; and if an amount of penalty is fixed in the bond similar to that by which wine producers are bound very little alarm will be created.

So, again, the producer of ottoes and the disconsisting he for the first of the fi spirit to come into consumption, be the means of producing the far-famed Eau de Cologne: no other spirit except grape spirit being capable of producing the first quality of this favourite per-fume; besides, the elements of nearly all the ingredients of which it is composed are to be found in the orange orchard. It is only by these amalgamations of interests, fostered by the Government, that the resources of this colony will be fully developed. The amount of loss to the orange producer to the present time of unapplied raw materials must have been enormous. The number of orange trees in the county of Cumberland is probably little short of 200,000. Orchards are continually being planted; fresh outlets, by means of steam carriage, are constantly being opened for the export of our fruit; and the extension of railways will afford the means of taking away from metropolis a considerable quantity of fruit which, from the want of proper transit, does not now find its way into the interior. But, cheering as these prospects are to the producer, there is no reason why he should be debarred from making a profit out of his waste, and the more especially because the pruning of his trees and the collecting his blossoms will not interfere with his fruit harvest. The Government have given certain privileges in the way of leases to those holding mining licenses, with a view to the investment of capital and the employment of labour. They have given lands for racecourses, with a have given lands for racecourses, with a view to improve the breed of horses. They have proclaimed that they will carry kerosene oil by railway—for the purpose of encouraging native industry—at the lowest rates. They have permitted wine growers to distil spirit for wine uses, and now they are asked to place the prange uses, and now they are asked to piace the orange growers on such a footing that they may be enabled to use all the produce of their orchards. The proposal is a reasonable one, and, considering the number and respectability of this class of producers, they are fairly entitled to the privilege they ask at the hands of the Government.

THE WRECKS AT NEWCASTLE.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]
An inquest on the bodies of Thomas Burrewes, late second nate; Thomas Cary, late a seaman belonging to the steamer Cawarra; and man unknown, was held on Thursday, July 19th.

Cawarra; and man unknown, was hald on Thursday, July 19th.

Free crick Valentine Hedges deposed: I recoilect the Cawarra leaving Sydney, on Wednesday, the 11th July; she arrived at Newcastle about noon on Thursday, the 12th, and afterwards become a total wreck—all hands lost except myself; I have seem the three bodies now lying in the hospital; I recognised the one marked 36 as the body of Edward Cary, able-bedied reaman of the Cawarra; the one marked 38 I recognises as the body of Thomas Burrowes, second officer of the Cawarra; the one marked 37 I cannot recognise; I have not seen any distinctive marks on the arms or body.

Charles Edward Harrison deposed: I am a sub-inspector of police stationed at Newcastle; I yesterday received three bodies recovered from the sturf at the North Basch, and identified as Thomas Cary, late a seaman on board the Cawarra; No. 38 as that of Thomas Burrowes, late second mate of the same vessel; both of these bodies have been identified by Hedges the surviver of the wreck; I believe there are no marks on the arms of the mass whose name is unknown.

The jury returned a verdict of "Found drowned."

wanen masst be cleared off before there is anythical like transquillity or case. But though we not only acknowledge but strongly maintain this rigid truth, we also held that, in fact, the state of the money market is improving, and is likely to improve.

We showed at length but week what the nature of the penic is. We have not, as on some former occasions, invested too much capital, or sent away too much ballion: We have not, as on some former occasions, invested too much capital, or sent away too much ballione. Our fault has been that some of our banking establishments have done bad business; that some of them have been supected; that all have found they may be suspected. A great deal of this bad business is, in comparison with the good business of the country, very small indeed. Some bad, at least unprofitable, railways have been made. Some English capital has been invested in unremnnerative foreign undertakings. But the whole lies within compass. The general trade of the country—the vast-staing and drinking (so to say) of our people—is sound, and these minor errors are important not so much for the suspection. they cause. If a return excellent the suspection of the places in which the excellent is such as a suspection of the places in which the excellent is such as a suspection of the places in which the excellent is the substantial of the country—the vast-stain gand drinking (so to say) of our people—is sound, sun the sun of the places in which the excellent is supported to the places in which the excellent is a support of the place of the place of the place in which the excellent is supported to the place of the place of the place in which the excellent is supported to the place of the p

the second brist at the consideration of the second process of the extensive credit of the Bank is thereby weakened. Then as soon as sales are pressed the price falls, and the operator is able to buy the shares he sold to-day at a far less price to buy the shares he sold to-day at a far less price to be combrow. The profits so made, where shares fall so quickly as these of the Bank of London, are very great, and the consequent ruin of the Bank very quick. The same result sho happens where, though no bad business has been done by the Bank, its shares are in the hands of poor people, who can bear no loss and pay no calls. Such people rush to sell the moment the price falls; and the "bears" thrive on their ruin. But the meral is that a mass of pear people should not get together and call themselves a bank. Credit ought to be and can only be founded on an equipment ought to be and can only be founded on an equipment and stable proprietary, on people who know they can pay calls, who are not driven into the market by every change in the value of their states. A parcel of people is not a fit foundation to any bonk; and though we dislike many of the operations of the bears, they divert men which does good cautious husiness has been ruined or will be. A fearful penalty is indeed visited on incidental errors, and one crus which magnitude everyph of on and get right are by the depreciation of their shares crushed and swept down. But haif of human justice works by decination in this say.

On the whole, we are trinly convinced that sound cautious people who have managed well, will manage will, and do keep their heads, will not be the wors for all this, but ultimately better, for some of their surferior competitors will be swept away, and after late warnings no one will lightly venture in the same path again.

The Northern and S uthern escorts have arrived during the week with the following quantities of gold:—Southern: Goulburn, 106 oz. 12 dwts. 20 grs.; Young, 490 oz. 11 dwts. 7 grs.; Adelang, 324 oz. 18 dwts. 23 grs.; Tumut, 154 oz. 10 dwts. 12 grs.; Gundagai, 418 oz. 18 dwts. 7 grs.; total, 1595 oz. 11 dwts. 21 grs.; Northern: Rocky River, 599 oz. 12 dwts. 12 grs.; Nundle, 356 oz. 14 dwts. 11 grs.; Tamworth, 460 oz. 14 dwts. 23 grs.; Scone, 109 oz. 5 dwts.; Armidale, 367 oz. 8 dwts.: total, 1893 oz. 14 dwts. 22 grs.

The quantity of gold received at the Sydney Mint for coinage during the week ending 20th July, was 4197 os. The amount of coin issued during the same period, 35,000 sovereigns.

The produce sales to-day were well attended, and in the early part of the sales biddings were brisk, and prices came well up to those ruling last week; but after the more pressing demands were satisfied, prices declined, and at the close showed a slight decline on both tallow and hides. In the former article there was a good demand by the trade for strong parcels suitable for candles, and prices were well sustained. Extra heavy weight hides were in request, but very few were offered; indeed, the market may be considered bare of this description. A lot of PJ hides, from Rockhampton, brought the top price of the sales, 18s. 9d. The following rates were realised:—Tallow, best beef, £47 to £51 10s.; second quality, £41 10s. to £46; inferior, £38 to £40; mutton, £54. Hides, extra weights, 18s. 9d. Calfskins, 2s. 3d to 6s. 6d. Horns, 10s. 9d. Calfskins, 2s. 3d to 6s. 6d. Horns, 10s. 9d. Shankbones, £5 to £8 15s. to 6s. 6d. Horns, 10s. 9d. Shankbones, £5 to £8 15a.

Mr. J. Graham offered 135 casks tallow, and

Mr. J. Graham offered 135 casks tallow, and sold 83 at the following rates: Mutton, £54; beef, £37 5a. to £51. The principal lots were 10 casks beef, B, at £50 19s.; 8 ditto ditto, at £51; 11 ditto, Newington, at £49 13s.; 1063 hides were offered, and about two-thirds were sold. 178 hides, RW, brought 13s. 11d.; 383, Newington, 13s. 9d.; 66, PJ, 18s 9d.; a lot of calfskins, 6s. 6d.

Messrs. Irwin and Turner catalogued 62 casks tallow and 426 hides. Their sales amounted to 42 casks tallow and 389 hides. Prices ruled thus:—Beef tallow, £39 to £51 10s. Hides, 9s. 9d. to 15s. 6d. The principal lots were 20 casks beef tallow, £51 10s., and 150 hides at 11s. 6d. Horns 10s. 9d.

almost bare of investors, but there is no lack of sellers. The cause which operated detrimentally upon the market during the past month—namely, the uncertainty of the English money market—is likely to continue until after the receipt of next month's mail. Bank and Insurance shares are very flat, the latter particularly so, in consequence of recent heavy losses having been made by almost every local company, the only sale during the week—Generals, at 30s.—shows the existing feeling. Bank of New South Wales shares exhibit a Bank of New South Wales shares exhibit a further decline, and have been placed at £47; and a parcel of Joint Stock Bank at £16, ex dividend. Gas shares have been done at £11 10a.; City of Sydney debentures at £95; Treasury bills at par, and Government deben-tures, due in 1891, at £93.

To the Editor of the Herald.

Sin.—I have, as you are aware, been for some years actively engaged in the cultivation of the orange and ismon, and have noticed the waste which is constantly going on in orchards of these truits. With the object of turning to account the neglected portions of my fruit trees. I procured, a few months ago, a copy of Dr. Piesser's work on the art of perfumery, and so struck was I with the valuable products which I learned from him might be obtained from wasted and neglected materials, that I lost no time in opening a correspondence with Dr. Piesse. Prom that gentleman I received many valuable suggestions which have resulted in my drawing the accompanying memorial, now in the course of signature, for presentation to the Colonial Treasurer. I may add that I have submitted it to some of the largest proprietors of orangeries, who quite agree in the course I have taken; and hoping that you will oblige me by giving the memorial insertion, that its objects may be prominently brought under the immediate notice of orange-growers.

I remain, faithfully yours,

ARTHUR T. HOLROYD.

The memorial of the understand reasoner of New South
The memorial of the understand represented to represent the formation of flower farms,
Respectfully sheweth,—
That the production of ornages and iemons has become an article of great commercial importance in this colony, and from the familities in growing these fruits, and from the numerous uses to which the different parts of the tree (all except the fruit being now wasted and neglected) can be applied, the commercial value can be largely increased, and the following valuable precises obtained.

valuable precincts obtained.

1. "Grange forest-water" procured by distillation, the consumption of which in France is 1,000,000 kilogrammes a year, whilst the quantity produced is only 465,000 kilogrammes as year, whilst the quantity produced is only 465,000 kilogrammes annually.

2. The otto of the blowoun of orange flowers, known commercially as "Oll of Neroli."

3. The "Neroll Bigarade," derived from the blessom of the Seville orange.

4. The essential cill of Orange, named "Portugal," from the rind of the fruit.

5. The "Neroll petit Grain," obtained by distilling the leaves and the young unripe fruit of the nifferent species of the citrus.

All of which ottos enter largely into fashionable perfumes, confectionerry, and scented soaps. On this account, Dr. Piesse, the celebrated author of "The Art of Perfumery," say, "The orange tree is the most valuable of all to the operative perfumer," and again, "No tree is so produble to the flower ferzors as the orange, and emigrants to say of our warm colonies should make a note of this and fix on their memory that the leaves of orange yield an otto worth 18s. an ounce; that the blossom slay yields by inflowering a fat worth 8s, per lb.; and that the rind of the fruit yields an otto worth 18s. to the per boand."

That your memorialists would also further call your attention to the work just quoted, the third edition of which was published in 18t3, and, again, to a lecture-delivered by the same author, before the Boyal Hortlendtural Rockety of London, at the sell of the year 18t6, in which, believing that the colony will, at 10 the TXTRAORDINARY CURE OF A COUGH.—The following letter has been addressed to Mr. Pewell by William Boards, Eng., an extensive Agriculturist and Land Agent, residing at Edmonton, Middloax —

"Nightingale Hall, Edmonton, Middloax —

"Nightingale Hall, Edmonton, which no remedy, out of many I recorted to, could allay, which no remedy, out of many I recorted to, could allay, which no remedy, out of many I recorted to, could allay, by head was constantly adding, and my whole frame entirely shaken. Having seen the good effects of your Balsam of Anisced in several members of my family, I purchased a small bottle, and when going to bed at night, took a tea-spoonful in two tables poonfuls of water just warm. The effect was immediate; it arrested the ticking in my chest, I slept well, and arose perfectly restored in the morning, with the exception of debility, arising from fatigue by incessant coughing for rome days previous. My cough entirely left me, and has never returned. Having since heard of a lady in the neighbourhood who for a long time had laboured under a most distressing cough, and who had resorted to every remedy within her knowledge, I seen that remainder of the bottle to her; and that long-standing, obstinate, and (as she though!) incurable cough, was perfectly cree. Yet arest perfect liberty to make what use you may please of this communication, as the ontents are strictly true. I shell take overy opportunity of recommending your inestimable medicine, feeling, as I do Allys sourced of its efficacy.

SINGING CLASSES,

by

C. W. RAYNER.

STUDIES FOR SINGING.—Mr. C. W. Rayner has published, in a very compact form, an elementary system, and course of study, for singing classes, with examples in the art of phrasing, supplemented by exercises for the development of the voice. There are some excellent observations on the mode of managing the voice, of taking breath, and avoiding over straining, all of which will be found highly useful. The whole subject is divided into twenty chapters, with a glassary of musical terms,—every point is lucidily explained, with examples likely to assist the young student, and impress it more forcibly on his memary, particular care having been bestowed on rythm, transposition, and due expression, while the graces of style have not been overlooked. We have no doubt this little work will be paircuised by all lovers of music, anxious to know something of the art.—Sydney Mornine Herald, July 18th, 1806.

1 dwalling-house, with 4 rooms and kitchen
1 slab house, 2 rooms, with shillions and shingle roof
2 bark huts
30 door frames, 20 window frames

Besides its mineral wealth, the property is of inestimable value as gricultural land; and by judiciously subdividing it into small farms, it might soon be made to dwal the famed districts of Wollompong and Klema, while nearer the margin of the lake (to which there is a PRONTAGE OF TWO MILES), the natural advantages of situation are such that it must eventually become the BRIGHTON of AUSTRALIA. The locality is eminently salubious, abounds in picturesque scenery, and offers great attractions to the sportman on shore as well as on the broad waters of Lake Masquarie. It is much resorted to during the summer months by pleasure scelers from Newcessie, &c, the distance from which is but twelve miles, and from Sydney forty five.

CANNING DOWNS SOUTH is beinded on the north by the River Condamine, which divides it from the other portion of this magnificent property, and forms a natural boundary equal to fencing of about 27 miles long. The area comprised within its limits is estimated at 169 square miles, or 107,000 ACKES, of the richest pasturage of the choice and favoured DARLING DOWNS.

While, as a healthy run for wolgrowing and for fattening purp see, it stands unrivalled by any other part of Queensland.

The water supply is abondant, as, in addition to the Condamine, which borders it from end to end, the back country is furnished with numerous permanent tributaries yielding sufficient for a much larger number of sheep than are at present depasturing on it; while, with a very inconsiderable outlay in fencing, the grazing capabilities of the run might be increased nearly threefold.

canning the increased nearly threshold.

Canning downs south is a portion of Daltling downs PROPER, and is situated only a few miles from the town of Warwick, and is barely 87 miles from lipswitch, thereby saving the disadvantage of long carriage; at the same time it must be remembered that within eighteen ments from this time, by the line now in progress, this run will be brought within 12 MILES OF A RAILWAY STATION:

1,488 ditto, 44 ditto
950 rams, 15 ditto, to aged.

Total, 29,014 more or less.

Total, 29,014 more or less, a mixed herd.

Implementa, in which are included resping machine, threshing ditto, winnowing ditto, ploughs, harrows, &c., tools of various kinds, stores, about 100 bushels of seed wheat, stack of wheat and out straw, about 30 tons, and about 70 bushels of seed outs.

The sheep are five from all contagious diseases. They are of very superior quality, and yield a heavy clip. Great expense has been incurred in introducing the choicest rams procurable; amongst the present flock of rams are 3 pure bred Rambouillet, and 4 pure German, all imported, and about one-half of the same flock are young, the progeny of the imported rams and carefully-selected stud Rws. A large proportion of the Tenterfield clip averaged in London, in the last August sales, over 2s, per lb., the wool being only hand-washed. The sheep have been regularly classed, and the rejected and old ones sold off every year.

The cattle are very quiet and superior. No expense has been spared in supplying the herd with bulls from the best herds in the colony.

Tenterfield is entitled to a lesse for five years, from 1st Jenuary, 1866, at 250 per annum, and application has been made to the Government to set apart water reserves for the use of the back country, and to protect said reserves from free selection. The applications are in course of being grained.

The township of Tenterfield being within a short distance.

of the most about.

The mount is placed to enumerate all the advantages of this splendid property. Suffice it to say, that New England is well known to be the finest wongrowing district in the colony; the climate is also very salubrions. The homestead on this station is perfectly stranged, and the house, gardens, dec, well adapted for the residence of a gentleman. As this property is now brought into the market for bona fide sale, to close accounts, the stiention of capitalists is specially directed to the opportunity thus afforded for obtaining, on favourable terms, one of the most important pastonal properties in Kew Houth Wales; and intending purchasers are invited to inspect the station, and are referred to Mr. J. Hooks, at Tenterdiad Houns, who will furnish every further information that may be required; for to Mesers, Richardson and Wrench, Pits-street, Sydney.
